Amanda,

Unless you have any reason to advise me not to do so I am going to report this by filing a report at ic3.gov with all relevant information.

Just on it's face as it only relates to my case they are guilty of wire fraud as there is no requirement that the crime reaches completion. Being able to prove intent is all that is needed. The fact that it involves at minimum 3 people who are located in 3 different countries including the USA just makes it that much more serious.

I honestly am not going to hold my breath as far as expecting something substantial to happen to any of them but I'm guessing there is still very good odds that if I report this to all of the relevant agencies which includes the FBI, FTC, and IRS among others. The fact that the archive is a 501c3 causes them additional problems. At the very least they are going to be under enough pressure and stress over the ordeal that they will choose not to continue forward with the obvious path that they are on is my guess.

But yeah. I don't care.

If Assaff Rawner has to step down as CEO over this - GOOD

If he somehow ends up serving time - GREAT

If the internet archive gets shaken up and involved in a huge ordeal over this - FANTASTIC

If it isn't advisable to send emails to any of them yet or start posting the story online I will have to settle for reporting it to the handful of regulatory and investigative agencies whose jurisdiction it falls under.

I think the biggest question everyone is going to wonder is how many times the web archive has pulled this scam before and how many other people has it affected?

Pardon my language - but fuck every single one of the people involved in this. Even if I don't have to worry at all from the standpoint of my patent I would be perfectly okay with them losing many of the things in their lives that they've worked so hard to achieve since that is what their end goal for me was/is.

I have attached PDF's of all relevant criminal law discussion to this email which demonstrates that they meet all of the criteria to be investigated and criminally charged.

I also don't think telling the internet archive about it is a good idea because after reading through those emails I think it makes it even more likely that they are directly involved in all of this. Just look at the email I got from that guy on the 29th (which I never even saw until last night) - My initial question I asked was about their removal policy if someone requests deletion of archived pages and he randomly replies 2 weeks later -

"For what site?"

"Ummmmmm.....you must've gotten my email mixed up with someone else's. Mine was the one asking about your archive deletion policy.."

The timing is way too coincidental as well as far as when I signed up, saved an archive of the site, and when I caught the first of the edits. All in order and not very far apart. Just this fact alone - that they were able to start adding backdated pages an hour later implies that this is a system they have down and something they have done many times before.

Their only recourse right now is to find a large team of people and attempt to start replacing the hundreds and thousands of pages with ones that aren't fraudulent but I'm not even sure how possible that is as it would require PhotoRobot to have an actual working site with the same code. They are screwed...and if they aren't yet I am going to do my best to make sure they are.

~Matt
