Data Analysis of Judicial Involvement in Criminal and Probate / Mental Health Cases

In an effort to better understand and support the defendant's concerns regarding the fairness and impartiality of his court proceedings, the defendant utilized the Minnesota Judicial Branch's official online system, MCRO (Minnesota Court Records Online), to analyze the patterns of judicial involvement in his cases. The focus was on the three specific Judicial Officers who have overseen all significant decisions and procedural aspects of his case from its very inception, and in which his current criminal case has a litany of procedural anomalies and discrepancies which the defendant believes are all indicative of his case being handled in a 'non standard' way.

Methodology:

Data Collection:

- Platform Used: Minnesota Court Records Online (MCRO).
- Objective: To gather hearing records for the three Judicial Officers involved in the defendant's case
- Judicial Officers Analyzed:
 - The Honorable Judge Julia Dayton Klein
 - The Honorable Court Referee Danielle C. Mercurio
 - The Honorable Court Referee George Borer

Search Criteria:

- Date Range: January 1, 2023, to April 26, 2024.
- Case Categories: Each judge's involvement was searched, and then retrieved using two filters – The 'Criminal' and 'Probate or Mental Health' categories of the provided 'Hearing Search' option of the MCRO online records system.

Data Processing:

- The defendant conducted a separate search for each judge under each category, resulting in six sets of data.
- Custom Python scripts were used to organize and filter the data, ensuring that each individual court case was counted once per category, per judge.
- The analysis focused on identifying common cases handled by all three judges within the given time frame.

Results:

The analysis uncovers a distinct pattern in the distribution of case assignments among the three judicial officers, with a notable number of cases shared among them in criminal court proceedings, rather than in the civil court proceedings as defined by the court. The data shows that this small group wields significant influence over pivotal decisions in a defendant's criminal proceedings, many times from their inception. Often, these are the very same decisions that lead to civil court proceedings under MN Statutes § 253B.

According to the description of the 'Hennepin Probate / Mental Health Court' by the 4th Judicial District Court's own website:

“ Probate Court handles cases involving the property of deceased persons, wills, trusts, guardianships, and conservatorships.

Mental Health Court handles the legal process involving the civil commitment of people to treatment centers based on allegations of mental illness, developmental disability, chemical dependency, and referrals from Criminal Court. ”

The overlap in judicial roles highlighted by the analysis raises concerns about the lack of clear delineation between criminal and civil proceedings. The same judges who oversee critical decisions in criminal cases also manage the referrals to civil commitments, effectively referring cases to themselves. This dual role blurs the boundaries required for impartiality and fairness in judicial processes, presenting a risk of unchecked control and influence contained within a very small group of Judicial Officers.

Interpretation:

The defendant is of the belief that the observed patterns of case handling by the identified judicial officers is most likely an established procedural norm within the judicial system itself, rather than clandestine or unethical arrangements. This interpretation suggests that the practices in question are not, by themselves indicative of covert misconduct, but are instead emblematic of systemic protocols that are openly sanctioned and promoted within the court itself.

The crux of the legal issues raised centers on the procedural use of Rule 20.01 Evaluation Reports to facilitate a rapid channeling of cases to a select group of three judicial officers whenever such evaluations are mandated. This procedural mechanism, raises significant legal and ethical concerns regarding the potential for undue influence and prejudicial treatment.

Furthermore, this system enables a concentrated control over both criminal proceedings and any consequent civil commitments within the Hennepin County courts. Such a concentrated control, inherently increases the risk of abuse, as it places substantial judicial power and decision-making within the hands of a few, potentially compromising the impartiality and fairness required in judicial proceedings.

¹ It is highly relevant to point out the fact that this analysis was conducted based solely on the 'hearing' dates. One of the Judicial Referees, George Borer, is also involved in the defendant's civil commitment case as well. For some reason the hearing that George Borer had scheduled on February 1, 2024 cannot be found in his 'official' civil court hearing dates when searching on the courts MCRO site. The defendant also experimented with additional Python scripts to match the names of the party involved in both civil and criminal cases but did not pursue that path further. The defendant believes that all of these results he was able to put together is worthy of much more investigation and time, but the defendant had to 'draw the line' somewhere in regards to how much time he put into this research.
